

(Image source: Wikipedia) CDHD in conjunction with the State of Nebraska and Federal Agencies remains vigilant to the possibility of terrorist action including the possibility of a bio-terrorist attack. Plans are in place for dealing with such an occurrence. Information regarding an event would be published as and when required.

What can you do.

Keep informed, general preparedness measures such as ensuring an adequate supply of water for you and your family in an emergency can help to reduce travel, and cross-contamination, listen for and follow advice from your local health authorities and most importantly – keep calm.

<http://emergency.cdc.gov/bioterrorism/>

- Information from the CDC on bioterrorism